THE GOOD DOCTORS GUIDE BREAST CANCER

FIONA MacNEILL

The Royal Marsden Hospital in London

WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT HER: 'Incredibly experienced, technically gifted and with an international reputation. She is also kind, really caring, is a good diagnostician and she looks after her patients very well,' says a fellow surgeon. 'Will give a very sensible opinion on how best to manage difficult cases and her patients can feel reassured that the best decisions for their treatment are being made.'

PRIVATE: The Royal Marsden Hospital (private care), The London Breast Clinic.

STUART JAMES

The Royal Marsden Hospital in London

WHAT THEY SAY ABOUT HIM: 'Tremendous, technically brilliant and really understands aesthetics — for a man, he really gets it,' says one of his peers.

'He is also a very good communicator and is one of the few plastic surgeons who understands that the person sitting in front of him has a serious illness and that tackling this is all about team effort and is not only a matter of breast enhancement.

'Caring, but not touchy-feely.'
